When you fly to South America with Lan-Chile you arrive before you take off.

The second you step aboard a Lan-Chile jet you're in South America.

You might be seated next to a matador from Lima.

Or a banker from Caracas.

Or a girl from Ipanema.

Relax. And let Lan-Chile put you in the mood for South America.

The wine is Chilean.

The music is Latin.

And the conversation is in Spanish, Portuguese, English, French, and so on. So you can take your pick.

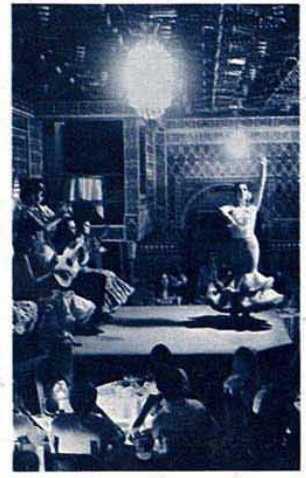
The stewardii speak your language. And their own. And they're outfitted like high-fashion models from Santiago. In chic colors to match their complexions and the shade of their hair.

Lan-Chile's 707's and 727's roar out of Miami and New York heading to Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Panama, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay. To casinos. And Cathedrals. Skyscrapers and safaris. Mountains and museums. Resorts and festivals and fishing and fun. To places like Guayaquil and Santiago. Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. Lima, Cali and Portillo.

And to some places that are out of this world. Like Easter Island. And the Polynesian paradise of Tahiti in the South Pacific.

Fly with Lan-Chile to the most exotic lands on earth.

Now we get around Madrid, Paris, Frankfurt, Easter Island and Tahiti.



Lan-Chile Airlines stretches its wings once more.

Now it's Europe.

Linking Santiago, Buenos Aires and Rio to Madrid, Paris and Frankfurt with bi-weekly 707 jet flights.

Bringing Lan-Chile to the museums and cafes and castles of Spain. To the restaurants and shops and chateaux of France. To the forests and rivers and chalets of Germany.

Lan-Chile flies the other way, too. Over the Pacific Ocean from Santiago to Easter Island. And Tahiti.

Lan-Chile.

Daily jet service to South America from New York and Miami. And vice versa. Bi-weekly jet service from South America to Europe and the South Pacific. And vice versa.

We get around.
