LONDON TO COPENHAGEN BY THE CONDOR ROUTE

IF you are going to Denmark or any of the other Scandinavian countries, travel by Danish Air Lines—the fastest and most comfortable route between London and Copenhagen.

You leave London Airport at 10.45 a.m. and reach Copenhagen at 2.30 p.m. From Copenhagen the route continues on to Gothenburg—Oslo, where the plane arrives two hours later, having flown in all more than 1,600 km., actually one of the longest air routes in Europe. On the return journey, the departure and arrival times are in the morning from Oslo and mid-day from Copenhagen, arrival at London at 3.55 p.m. Actual flying time between London—Copenhagen is only 3 hrs. 45 mins. and there are convenient air connections between the Danish capital and Malmoe, Stockholm, Abo and Helsingfors.

Four-engined Condor planes with a cruising capacity of 205 m.p.h. and seating accommodation for 26 passengers serve this route, which is operated in conjunction with German Air Lines. Refreshments and light meals are served and a special smoking compartment is provided in addition to the luxuriously-fitted passenger cabin.
