General Information

Travel Documents: Passengers will be supplied with all information in respect of passport, visae, health, customs and other requirements. It is, however, their responsibility to ensure that these documents are in order.

Reservations: Definite return reservations can be arranged at all Stations if the request is made sufficiently in advance.

Cancellation. Passengers are requested to notify their cancellation of reservations well in advance; otherwise they will be liable to payment of cancellation charges.

Refunds: If reservations are cancelled, refunds will be made after making adjustments for the transportation completed, if any, and the applicable cancellation, service and communication charges. Refunds will be effected only in the country in which payment was originally made.

Total Itinerary For Discounts: Passengers are requested to communicate their complete itinerary so that maximum discounts may be offered, e.g. a discount of 10% can be obtained on Round Trip or Circle Trip tickets purchased in advance for definite or open date travel.

Validity: A normal fare ticket is valid for a period of one year only.

Children's Fares: A separate ticket will be required for each infant or child. An infant under 2 years of age accompanying an adult and not occupying a separate seat will be charged 10% of the applicable adult fare. This concession is available to only one infant per each accompanying adult.

If an adult is accompanied by more than one infant, or if an infant occupies a separate seat, the fare will be 50% of the applicable adult fare in each case.

The fare for a child over 2 but under 12 years of age is 50% of the applicable adult fare.

Stop Overs: Passengers may break their journey at one or more scheduled stops en route without an additional charge, by advance arrangement. Hotel expenses at such stops will be the Passengers' responsibility.

Departures Cannot Be Delayed: Passengers reporting direct at the airport must arrive sufficiently in advance of the scheduled departure time to allow for completion of the necessary formalities. Under no circumstances will a service departure be delayed for passengers arriving late.

BAGGAGE

First Class: The free baggage allowance for a first class passenger is 30 kilos. Baggage in excess of the free allowance will be charged per kilo at the rate of one per cent of the normal one-way First Class adult fare.

Tourist Class: The free baggage allowance for a Tourist Class passenger is 20 kilos. Baggage in excess of the free allowance will be charged per kilo at the rate of one per cent of the normal one-way First Class adult fare.

Children: Children carried at 50% of the applicable adult fare will be allowed the full free baggage allowance on the same basis as the adult fare passenger.

An infant carried at 10% of the applicable adult fare will not be allowed any free baggage allowance.

Free Hand Baggage: A lady's handbag or pocket book, an overcoat or wrap, a foot rug, an umbrella or walking stick, a small camera and a pair of binoculars, infant's food and carry cot and a reasonable amount of reading material for the flight may be carried free in addition to the free baggage allowance.

Brief cases, cabin and overnight bags, attache cases, typewriters and heavy cameras will not be carried as free hand baggage.

Unaccompanied Baggage: Excess Baggage including only personal wearing apparel, musical instruments, sports equipment and personal articles, but excluding machinery, machine or spare parts, money, securities, jewellery, watches, plate and plated ware, furs, films, cameras, tickets, documents, liquors, perfumes and articles of household furnishing, merchandise and salesman samples, can be forwarded as cargo at half the normal cargo rates.

MISRAIR VISCOUNT

The Viscount is the world's first turbo-prop transport airplane. It is the only transport plane now in service specially designed for this type of motive power.

Perhaps the first thing the regular traveller will notice about the Vickers Viscount when he sees it on the tarmac will be the four unusually long and slim engines reaching forward from the wings. This will be his introduction to a new form of Air-Transport. But more important from the passenger's point of view is the remarkably quiet, smooth flight made possible by a propeller turbine. The vibration usually associated with the internal combustion engine is eliminated because there are no reciprocating parts. The moving parts inside a turbine revolve around the central shaft.

On any seat in a Misrair's Viscount, the passenger will be able to view the farmlands, the industrial centres as well as the ancient cities of Egypt through huge picture windows. These windows, the largest of any airplane to-day, were especially designed with the passenger in mind. From 30,000 feet the earth below will present an enchanting view to all.

Lights from these windows will also make it a pleasure for the businessmen who are provided with their own private desks to work on while flying to their next appointment. It will not be necessary to call for the hostess to set up the work table for it easily flips out from the back of the seat in front. These tables may also be used as individual dinner tables at mealtimes.

The temperature inside the cabin is kept constant by operation of a thermostat. Once the required temperature has been pre-selected it remains constant under outside conditions ranging from minus 25°C. to plus 35°C. to 90°F. When desired, however, the temperature setting can be varied and by this means passengers may be gradually acclimatized during the journey to the temperature difference obtained between the points of departure and arrival.

The Viscount airframe is a robust all-metal structure built on conventional lines and is supported by a tricycle under-carriage and powered by four Rolls-Royce "Dart" 506 propeller turbine engines. This pressurised fuselage will carry forty to forty-eight passengers, a flight crew of three and two hostesses, plus baggage and freight.

The turbo-prop does not have to operate at the excessive heights required by the pure jet to conserve its fuel, but it is at its best at 25,000 feet; this is already more than the operational height of a piston engines aircraft of comparable size. At this height the aircraft is well above the regions in which bumpy conditions normally predominate.

Indeed, inside the "Viscount" thanks to the propeller-turbine engines there is hardly any sensation of movement when the aircraft is travelling at its normal speed of 460 kilometers per hour and it is so quiet that conversation across the cabin in normal tone is easily possible. Passengers will be singing the "Viscount" song after their first ride for it will be different from any flight they have ever had.
